COST OF H-BOMB PLANT IS ZOOMING UP

Taft's Control In Oklahoma Is Cracked by Ike

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30.—(P)—Enthusiasts for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appear to have cracked wide open the almost solid wall of Oklahoma Republican support for Senator Robert A. Taft's bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

Starting almost from scratch with Eisenhower's announcement several weeks ago that he is a Republican and available for the nomination, the general's hastily organized backers have the Taft forces fighting a desperate battle.

Ike vs. Taft Test Coming

Ohioan Enters New Hampshire Primary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Senator Robert A. Taft has decided to challenge Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination in the New Hampshire Primary March 11.

"Win, lose or draw, I feel I should permit the preference vote to be taken in New Hampshire," the Ohio senator said.

Harold E. Stassen, another aspirant for the Republican nomination, also has been entered in the New Hampshire preferential primary but Taft made no mention of him in formally challenging Eisenhower.

Taft said "the political machine of the present state administration is openly pledged to Gen. Eisenhower" in New Hampshire.

This was a reference to Gov. Sherman Adams, Senator Tobey and other New Hampshire Republicans.

"DESPITE those factors which are apparently unfavorable," Taft said he would not exercise his right to withdraw in New Hampshire.

"So long as loyal friends of mine insist on undertaking a campaign for delegates favorable to me, I do not like to urge their withdrawal, or handicap them by failing to have my name appear as a candidate on the same ballot as theirs," Taft said.

Fourteen delegates to the Republican nominating convention are at stake in New Hampshire.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

While the mercury hovers a few degrees above zero, the first wildflower is now blooming in Fayette County—and it probably has been for two weeks or more.

I have proof of this right here on my desk.

It is the blossom of the skunk cabbage (Symplocarpus foetidus) which came from a bog along Paint Creek, not far from Rock Bridge, five miles south of Washington C. H.

The blossom was given to me by none other than the "Paint Valley Prophet," Oliver Peters.

Pete knew I was interested in knowing just when the skunk cabbage made its appearance, so he cut off one of the numerous blossoms and brought it in to me.

The blossom is cowl-shaped, and brownish purple in color. The spathe is some four inches in length and two inches across at the thickest part.

The blossom is shaped something like that of a Jack-in-the-Pulpit, or Indian turnip, except the top is pointed.

The spadix, covered with tiny yellow spots, is about one inch in diameter and is almost hidden within the spathe.

As the flower fades it gives off an offensive odor, but while fresh there is little or no objectionable odor. It is from its odor that it gets its name of skunk cabbage.

As summer advances, large green leaves appear until the whole plant greatly resembles a large cabbage.

The skunk cabbage grows in bogs and is found in only a very few places in Fayette County. One place is along Sugar Creek not far from the Snow Hill Road.

in an area they believed safely within their hands.

This state's Republicans will begin Thursday, at a district meeting in Durant, the selection of their 16-vote delegation to the July Chicago national convention. After other district meetings, they will complete the delegation choice at a state convention here Feb. 11, first of its kind in the nation.

Whereas a month ago it had been generally assumed here the delegation would go to Chicago unopposed, but at least 12 to 4 behind Taft, competent observers now say they expect the vote to go the other way.

C. E. BARNES, attorney and former GOP state chairman who is ramrodding the Eisenhower drive, predicted the general will get the majority of the delegation out of the district and state conventions. Baile Vinson, Republican national committeeman who is close to the Taft forces headed by Tulsa oilman W. G. Skelly, said he is remaining entirely neutral in the fight. He said he believes the state's group "will be uninstructed but split about evenly between Eisenhower and Taft."

The Oklahoma story is significant in that it seems to represent the first actual translation into delegate strength of the reputed Eisenhower popularity among rank and file Republicans.

If it is indicative of a trend, it could be bad news for Taft. In the west, similar Eisenhower drives have not yet reached the stage where the general's friends can say with confidence they are making inroads into the strength Taft has built up.

Ohio Consolidated Hike Is Approved

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—(P)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday granted the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., operator of 39 Ohio exchanges, an emergency rate increase that will give the company an additional $221,871 annually.

It was the first time the commission ever had granted an emergency hike to a telephone company.

The company last July asked an increase of $739,725. Two months later it sought an emergency increase of $551,791, claiming it was needed to pay bond interests and preferred stock dividends.

The commission said if the emergency increase had not been granted the company's credit standing would be impaired. The company listed $121,800 in bond interest obligations, $60,000 in preferred dividends it must meet, and higher labor costs and taxes in its plea for an increase.

The commission held a half dozen hearings in November before deciding to grant the 11.43 per cent increase to all exchanges. The company had asked a 28.43 per cent increase.

THE COMMISSION still has before it the company's request for the $739,725 increase.

The company is the second largest independent telephone company in Ohio. It has exchanges in these communities:

Clarksville, Dillonvale, Holloway, Maria Stein, Mt. Pleasant, New Athens, Port William, Adena, Flushing, Laurelville, Martinsville, Millersport, New Vienna, Pleasantville, Scio, Smithfield, Williamsport, Ashville, Blanchester, Brilliant, Byesville, Convoys, Leesburg, New Bremen, New Concord, Sabina, Tiltonville, Baltimore, Cadiz, Greenfield, Circleville, St. Marys, Wilmington, Cambridge, Lucasville, New Boston, Portsmouth and Sciotoville.

Death Performs In This 'Play'

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(P)—A patron for a Tuesday night show found Cashier Walter Hoyer sitting alone in the Paris Theater—bound and gagged by bandits.

His bonds removed, Hoyer struggled to his feet, collapsed and died. Police said $250 was taken.

Reds Do Double Reverse

Ohio Floods Lose Punch

Gallipolis Braced; Marietta Relaxing

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 30.—(P)—The Ohio River flood crest—a winter-time sneak that drove upwards to 10,000 from their homes—swept to the doorstep of Gallipolis Wednesday, but, its Sunday punch was about gone.

Bitter cold, the killer of floods, cut the crest to somewhat less damaging depths.

The river rose slowly—if at all—at Roller Dam, 10 miles upstream from Gallipolis, and in Gallipolis itself where the reading was 53.7 feet. Flood stage is 50 feet.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Cincinnati indicated previous crest estimates probably would stand, or would be cut slightly. This would bring the Portsmouth crest to 58 feet and the Cincinnati crest to 59 feet. In neither case would damage be excessive.

Only a few warehouses would be inundated at Cincinnati and about 250 rural families—unprotected by Portsmouth's 77-foot flood wall—would be made refugees.

THE WINTER cold, which pinned down into ice many tons of tributary flood waters and helped save the flood situation, caused other discomforts, however. It made the business of cleaning up after the flood crest passed a brutal task.

Instead of the customary digging out of mud and hosing down of floors, returning refugees upstream found themselves with the job of chopping away ice.

The river crested Tuesday in Marietta where about one-third of the business district and scattered residential areas were inundated.

A few miles downstream from Marietta at Parkersburg, Va., the river crested at 44.36 feet, more than eight feet above flood stage, Tuesday afternoon.

At both Marietta and Parkersburg the water began falling and work toward normal living began.

Million Dollar Fire Hits 3 Cincy Buildings

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—(P)—The worst fire to hit Cincinnati in 15 years has left three brick buildings of the Cincinnati Sash and Door Co. in smoking ruins.

Fire officials said only the blazes during the great 1937 flood could compare to the fire that swept the west end block Tuesday night and caused $1 million in damage.

Twenty-five firemen suffered minor injuries while battling the fire in 17-degree temperature. Fire Chief Barney Houston was one of the injured when a wall collapsed. Others were treated for frostbite.

Thick layers of ice coated fire equipment, the streets and firemen.

Scores of families fled nearby tenement houses—some carting their furniture.

Lowell E. Peters, secretary-treasurer of the concern, said the replacement value of the building was $500,000, and it contained stock valued at another half-million.

Dixiecrats Urge Russell To Run

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Southern Democrats are putting heavy pressure on Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia to formally enter the party's presidential race.

At the same time, Senator Maybank (D-SC) heatedly denied that Russell's backers are out "to stop" Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn), President Truman, or any other Democrat.

"I hope Senator Russell will allow us to nominate him," Maybank said. "His friends are not limited to Southern Democrats."

Admiral Named

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(P)—U. S. Admiral Lynde D. McCormick has been named supreme commander of Western naval forces in the North Atlantic, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization announced Wednesday.

IRRITATED by the new postal regulation requiring payment of a 10 per cent penalty when 2-cent postal cards are bought in lots of 50 or more, Barney Kroeger, publisher of the Duquesne, Pa., Times, buys them the hard way. He is standing by while six children line up at the postoffice window to purchase the cards 49 at a time. When they finished the job, Kroeger gave them the $6 he saved. Lined up are (from left) Lois and Patricia Plukla, 8-year-old twins; Bernard Kroeger, Jr., 6; Rosemary Mikaljevick, 12; Ronald Ondike, 11, and Ronald Ovie, 14.

Taft, Lewis Hook Up In Name-Calling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and John L. Lewis hooked up in a bitter name-calling clash at a Senate committee hearing on coal mine safety Wednesday.

Lewis termed the Taft-Hartley law "a slave act" and wound up with this broadside at the GOP presidential hopeful:

"If you are ever elected President, Mr. Taft, and Joe Stalin should ask you about the Taft-Hartley slave act, I don't know how you'll answer him."

"I can handle Stalin all right," Taft retorted. "And I managed to handle the workers of Ohio."

He was obviously referring to his overwhelming reelection as senator in 1950 when his authorship of the labor law was a primary issue.

Earlier, Taft accused Lewis of injecting a "red herring" into Senate hearings and said it is "entirely untrue" that miners are denied the right to walk out of unsafe mines because of the labor law Taft co-authored.

AT ONE STAGE Taft asserted a mine owner has no more chance than "a snowball in hell" to bring a suit for breach of contract against the UMW.

When Lewis got out of his chair at the end of Taft's statement, he stood muffled, hands at his side, and asked in a low tone: "May I make an inquiry, please?"

Taft said: "I suggest Mr. Lewis come back to testify another time."

"Doesn't the senator want to hear what I've got to say?" Lewis asked.

When Taft had finished his strong criticism of Lewis' testimony, the United Mine Workers chief was refused a request to answer him.

Testifying Tuesday, Lewis said the "abominable, barbaric" Taft-Hartley law makes it possible for mine owners to file suit for breach of contract damages when miners refuse to work because alleged unsafe conditions.

Lewis said 114,025 coal miners have died in accidents since 1839; 13,000 of these died in 571 "major disasters." In 25 of these major disasters, more than 100 men lost their lives. In the last 20 years, 1,304,975 miners were injured.

"A shocking total," Lewis said of the death figure. "How many shocks do we need?" he asked, before the federal government gets power to enforce safety codes.

Can't Beat 'Em So He Joins 'Em

RENO, Jan. 30.—(P)—M. A. Fairchild, former part-owner of a meat packing company here, went out of business last year saying Office of Price Stabilization ceiling prices and slaughter quotas made it impossible to operate at a profit.

Tuesday, the OPS announced Fairchild has been appointed head of the foods section in the district office here.

Turn on Porch Light Thursday Night To Get Into War Against Polio

Don't forget to turn on your porch light Thursday evening from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock.

That's the time set for the "Mothers' March on Polio"—the time when mothers of Washington C. H. will go from door to door accepting contributions to the fund to fight polio.

The money raised by the Mothers' March will go for research and treatment in humanity's war against dread infantile paralysis.

The Mothers' March on Polio is a nationwide project; it will be going on at the same time in cities and towns all over the country.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has often been described as the only hope for conquering the disease that attacks both young and old, the healthy as well as the sick, without warning and leaves them with shriveled arms and legs—or worse, if they survive.

The Mothers' March on Polio Thursday night will climax the annual March of Dimes campaign. It is to be one of the main phases of the fund-raising this year. It provides every home owner the opportunity to lend a hand with the war on infantile paralysis.

Mrs. Margaret Hurr is the general chairman of the march. The city has been laid out in five districts, corresponding to the school districts, for the march. In each district, will be a captain to lead the women's army from house to house.

The army has been organized principally from the Parent-Teacher Associations. The presidents are to be the captains.

The porch lights will be the invitation to the army of mothers to come to the door for a contribution to the polio war fund. There is no limit, either top or bottom, for the contributions; those who are able are expected to give more than those with smaller incomes, but any help will be welcomed, no contribution is too small.

If you are not at home, you can make your contribution any time to Mrs. Hurr or any of the district captains: Sunnyside, Mrs.

Robert Moats; Central, Mrs. John Morehouse; Eastside, Mrs. Otis Core; Rose Avenue, Mrs. Warner Penrod and Cherry Hill, Mrs. Norris Highfield.

The Mothers' March is considered one of the most important phases of the March of Dimes campaign this year. For many it will be their only opportunity to give. Don't forget to turn on your porch light.

Goading Witness Is Ruled Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—(P)—Federal Judge E. Goodman says it's not dignified to threaten a witness thus:

"Why in hell didn't you come through clean? When we get through with you, you will wish you had."

Whereupon, he acquitted David N. Kessel and William Pechart of charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate. The two gambling figures had refused to answer questions of the Kefauver-Crime Committee.

Diplomats See Rift Between China, Russia

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—The State Department is studying reports that Red China and Soviet Russia are drifting apart.

The department's official bulletin in a review of happenings behind the Iron Curtain during 1951 led off with this comment on China:

"In China, one of the country's where food production has fallen in spite of so-called 'land reform,' mass executions, and the liquidation of landlords, year end reports describe a growing coolness between Peking and Moscow."

The department did not enlarge on the point but said that in general "1951 proved to be an unhappy year behind the Iron Curtain."

"Month after month, and in country after country, the story has been the same," the summary said. "It is one of increasing dissatisfaction, unsuccessful repression, new purges, mass deportations, and other forms of Communist frightfulness in the now familiar Soviet pattern."

"In the free world, by contrast, 1951 has been a year of rising strength, rising hope, and rising production, combining to build new bulwarks against Soviet aggression and to promote the cause of peace."

"Troubles also mounted in the Soviet Union itself. These reports, together with a rising tide of escapes and escape attempts as thousands of refugees left or tried to leave Russian territory, contributed additional detail to the story of Soviet troubles and human courage in resisting oppression."

Hiccups Champ Weighs 78 Pounds

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(P)—Jack O'Leary, who weighed 135 pounds before he was seized with the world's longest hiccupping attack more than three and a half years ago, is now down to 78.

He has been hiccupping about once per second since June 13, 1948. An appendix rupture brought them on.

O'Leary, 26, is losing weight because he can retain food only 20 minutes.

25,000 Troop Rotation Is Suggested

Chinese Communists Decide They Will Aid Administration

MUNSAN, Jan. 30.—(P)—Communist negotiators in a double reversal Wednesday agreed to the Allies rotating 25,000 troops a month during an armistice and said Chinese would join in administering the demilitarized zone.

The Reds balked, however, at restraints on moving their troops secretly into threatening concentrations during an armistice.

Previously the Communists had agreed to rotating only 5,000 UN troops. The Allies are asking for 75,000 a month.

Tuesday the Reds indicated the Chinese would take no part in civil administration of the northern half of a buffer zone during an armistice. Then they reversed it.

All these actions were taken by staff officers working their way slowly through an 18-page Allied draft of a plan for supervising an armistice.

THE REDS objected to two security proposals:

1. That both sides refrain from concentrating troops and guns in a manner to threaten the other side.

2. Both sides report weekly the exact location of all major ground, naval and air units.

In a neighboring tent at Panmunjom, a UN spokesman said, a North Korean general showed a critical and sarcastic interest in the Allied plan for exchanging prisoners.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said the Communist negotiator was "reasonably objective, but it would be incorrect to say any measurable progress was being made."

A UN Command communiqué said the staff officers "continued to make progress" on true supervision.

The Red agreement to rotating 25,000 Allied troops, while far short of Allied requests, represented a major change in the Communist position. Originally they opposed any rotation at all.

The new Communist proposal would include troops sent to Japan for "rest and recreation" in addition to those sent home to be replaced.

Allied staff officers said, under these circumstances, 75,000 would be a minimum figure, but if it were limited to replacements 40,000 would be enough. Current Allied rotation figures are believed to run about 25,000 a month, and rest and relaxation leaves about the same.

Iran-Hungarian Oil Deal Brewing

TEHRAN, Jan. 30.—(P)—Iran's government has announced it will sign a one-year agreement with Communist Hungary this week to barter Iranian oil for Hungarian machinery and manufactured goods.

The pact will be the first to send Iranian oil abroad since Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government took over the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. last spring. The announcement did not explain how the oil can be transported to Hungary in face of a boycott of Iranian oil shipments by Western nations who control most of the world's tankers.

Driver Grounded For Entire Life

CANTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Municipal Judge Donald L. McCarroll has suspended for life the driver's license of Benjamin E. Daniels, 39, for drunken driving.

Judge McCarroll declared that "an alcoholic has no place behind the wheel of an auto."

Yoder Withdraws

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—(P)—Joseph Yoder, Stark County auditor, Wednesday withdrew from the race for the Republican nomination for state auditor and said he will support Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus in the race. Rhodes announced Yoder's decision.

$1.25 Billion Said Present Price Tag

AEC Report Details Progress Made by Atomic Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(P)—The nation's vast plant for the projected hydrogen bomb will cost more than twice as much as originally estimated, the Atomic Energy Commission reported Wednesday.

Chairman Gordon Dean of the AEC declared the probable cost has been "upped considerably" from a $600 million "estimate" of a year and a half ago to $1.25 billion at present.

Dean said the estimates were revised because it is apparent now that "reactors" will cost more than had been expected.

Reactors are devices for making atomic explosive.

The AEC had announced that the reactors at the South Carolina H-bomb plant were to be of "advanced" design. Dean said "the design is still not completed on some of them."

THE NEW estimate was contained in the AEC's semi-annual report to Congress. The commission described "intense activity" in the last six months throughout the entire atomic enterprise—including an "expanding atomic weapons program." It told of:

1. Full blast operation of all its existing plants including those for making atomic explosives.

2. Progress on new construction entailing three percent of the nation's total building expenditures and employing nearly two per cent of the country's total construction force.

3. "Continued" increase in the output of fissionable materials—at a lower cost than ever.

4. "Substantial" and "significant advances" in weapons research and development.

5. Increased domestic production of uranium ores.

6. Research findings with radioactive isotopes that may lead to improved methods of farming "and lowered costs of food and fibre production."

7. Further agricultural research indicating that atomic "rays," while providing no stimulus to plants, may aid in breeding new varieties of crops, and also aid in the fight against certain crop diseases.

8. DEVELOPMENT of chemicals of a type which might ultimately be used in humans as a kind of antidote for anyone who accidentally swallows poisonous atomic materials.

9. New interest by industrial firms in the possibilities of using sources of radiation which "now lie fallow in the wastes" from atomic reactors.

10. Development of new instruments which make it possible to analyze the air in uranium mines for possible atomic contamination within 30 minutes—instead of the old process of sending air samples to a special laboratory.

11. While studies of offspring of Japanese exposed to atomic rays still are inconclusive, studies on mice suggest that as far as hereditary effects are concerned "humans are more sensitive to radiation than previous estimates have indicated."

Training for 37th To Start Monday

CAMP POLK, La., Jan. 30.—(P)—An eight-week training program will begin Monday for men of the 37th Infantry Division.

The division, a former Ohio National Guard unit, will be processed this week—aptitude tests, classification tests to determine assignments, equipment and clothing inspections, and other details.

Assigned to aid in instructing the ex-Guardsmen will be more than 2,000 rotated combat personnel—including many Korean veterans assigned to the 37th.

10-City Election 'School' Planned

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—(P)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown says he will take a "traveling office" to 10 cities starting next month, to acquaint the public with election matters.

Brown said he will visit Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Youngstown, Mansfield, Lima, Dayton, Cincinnati, Jackson and Cambridge. Dates will be announced later.

Infantry Chorus Wins Favor of Audience Here

Leonard de Paur Group Demonstrates Change of Pace

Choral singing of almost unbelievable variety was heard in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium Tuesday night, when the nationally-known de Paur Infantry Chorus presented perhaps the most outstanding concert ever offered in this community.

A large and enthusiastic audience comprised of concert goers here and in this part of Ohio applauded the Negro chorus of 30 voices and marveled at their infantry-like precision and startling change of pace.

Their performance evoked such a spontaneous expression of appreciation that leaders of the sponsoring Community Concert Association here feel that a fresh new enthusiasm has been aroused in the high grade talent which the association is providing for concert goers in this country.

THE DEPARTMENT and discipline of the infantry chorus, which had its origin during World War II, was notably outstanding.

Individually, the members of the chorus demonstrated they have extraordinarily beautiful voices, perfectly matched and attuned. The audience was pleasantly surprised that of the dozen or so soloists who stepped forth, each had a brilliant voice and could stand alone on his own talents.

Some expressed a little chagrin at the start of the program that the program didn't include more familiarly known tunes, but this dismay vanished when the chorus got through their first two or three numbers.

The program opened with some songs by contemporary composers — Dai-keong Lee, Ivan Langstroth and Ken Kennan.

When the chorus swung into the lighter and peppery Latin-American songs on the second part of the program the audience had started to warm up to the change of pace and the realization that they were hearing something different and unusual. The choir was devoid of the usual stereotyped mannerism, and this was a thoroughly welcome surprise to the audience.

THE HUMOROUS SONG "De Handsome Man", a fitting reply to "Ugly Woman", was a good introduction for "Waltzing Matilda," which opened up a series of songs from World War II.

This series was closed with the story of the infantry and a tribute to the memory of Capt. Clayton S. Rockmore who was killed in action Feb. 24, 1945 on Iwo Jima.

Negro spirituals and work songs, including "No Bottom", a steamboat song which had everyone in the audience feeling like taking a ride down the old Mississippi, followed.

The regular program was concluded with some inspiring songs of faith, including one sung in Yiddish and entitled "A Din Toire Mit Gott."

Two encores were added, "The Duckworth Chant" ("Sound Off") associated with the matchless precision drilling of some of the Negro troops, and "The Ugly Woman" (Calypso).

The chorus was under the capable direction of Leonard de Paur, who rose from a private to a captain during World War II.

Y-Teens Plan To Hold Mothers Tea

Members of the Y-Teen Club at Washington C. H. High School Tuesday discussed a tea which they plan to hold for mothers and the Y-Teen chapel, to be held in the high school auditorium Feb. 25.

The meeting was held in the Little Theatre of Washington C. H. High School. Marilyn Cunningham, the president, opened the meeting. A worship service was led by Janet Caley and Dinah Davis. Membership cards were given out to those not present at the last meeting.

A Y-Teen assembly will be held at the high school during the week of Feb. 16-23.

The meeting was adjourned by the singing of the Y-Teen song, led by the program chairman, Nancy Kimmey.

Last Rites Held For Jacob A. Flax

Funeral services for Jacob A. Flax were held in the Morrow Funeral Home in Jeffersonville Tuesday at 2 P. M. with Rev. Don McMillin, pastor of the First Christian Church here in charge.

Rev. McMillin read from the Scriptures, offered a prayer, delivered a sermon and read a memoir, and Tennyson's poem, "Crossing the Bar."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Morrow sang two hymns, "He Knows It All" and "No Night There." Miss Louise Fuhs was the accompanist. Pallbearers were Glenn Vannorsdall, Albert Vannorsdall, W. W. Hill, W. W. Williams, Charles B. Upp and Will DeLaure.

Burial was in the Fairview Cemetery in Jeffersonville.

Lions Club Sets Minstrel Date

Hughes Gives Talk In Bloomingburg

Sixty-five members and guests of the Bloomingburg Lions Club heard Clifford Hughes, a member of the county board of commissioners, admonish them to exercise their privilege as Americans at the polls at all elections.

Hughes spoke to the club at its meeting Tuesday night in the cafeteria of the Bloomingburg High School.

Plans were discussed for the Lions Club minstrel, to be held March 4 and 5 in the Bloomingburg High School auditorium. Roland Chase will direct the minstrel.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made that rehearsals for the minstrel will start Feb. 10.

Wives of the Bloomingburg Lions Club members will play a women's team from the Sedalia club Feb. 8, and the men from the Jeffersonville club will clash with a team from the Sedalia club.

Emerson Marting, president of the Washington C. H. Lions Club, and Lester Allen, president of the Jeffersonville Lions Club, were present at the meeting and they told about the minstrels which their clubs plan to stage in the near future.

Two new members—Robert Browning and John Browning Jr.—were taken into the club. Announcement was made that the board of directors of the club voted $25 to the annual March of Dimes drive to fight polio.

Dairy Association Sets Date for Meet

The closing date for making reservations for the Fayette County Dairy Association dinner meeting at the Country Club next Wednesday has been extended to Monday, Feb. 4.

Dr. Fordyce Ely, one of the outstanding men in the field of dairy technology in the U. S., will headline the program.

His topic will be of interest to dairy farmers since the dairy industry is now in the process of changes.

In recognition of the efforts and interest of the 4-H and FFA dairy club members in Fayette County, these boys and girls will be the dinner guests of the association.

During the short business session, an election of board members will elect directors to serve for the next two years.

Reservations may be made either through the county extension of fice or by contacting a technician or the county chairman.

Don Woods To Head 4-H Tractor Club

Donald Woods was elected president of the First-Year 4-H Tractor Club at the meeting at the home of Albert Cobb, associate county extension agent, Tuesday evening.

Other officers elected were Roger Gorman, vice president; Donald Gorman, secretary, and Donald Mathews, news reporter. John Stern and Roger Hays are the club's advisors.

Members were asked to collect clippings from newspapers concerning tractor accidents. The clippings will be discussed at the next meeting.

Next meeting of the group will be at the Rogers Tractor Sales in Staunton on Monday evening.

He was a member of the Eagles Lodge of Washington C. H.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

Producers Stockyards Report To Be Made at Friday Meeting; Entertainment Program All Set

Members of the Fayette County Producers Livestock Cooperative Association will have an opportunity to learn just how much the business of their organization increased last year when they gather in the high school auditorium Friday at 8 P. M.

Danny Daniels

They also will hear an address by F. G. Ketner, secretary-manager of the parent organization, the Consolidated Producers Livestock Co-operative Association, a talk by W. W. Montgomery, the county agricultural extension agent, and an entertainment program of song and dance.

One of the highlights of the business session will be the election of six members of the board of directors. The board is made up of 11 directors.

Harold Harmount, the chairman of the advisory board of the association here, is to preside at the meeting.

W. H. (JERRY) NESSELL, the manager of the stockyards here, is to make the annual report to the members on the association's business affairs. He said he planned to tell the members not only the round figures on the total business of 1951, but also to break his report down to give the details such as the number of cattle, hogs, sheep and calves handled at the stockyards and the valuations for each category, month by month.

To give the members of the association a better understanding of the progress made, Nessell said he assembled data on business in years past for comparisons.

The association here is one of 18 branches of the Consolidated Producers Livestock Co-operative Association in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana. Headquarters are in Columbus.

Nessell estimated there were approximately 4,400 members of the association as he explained that consignors are considered as members of the association.

For the entertainment program there will be the Trail Hands, a vocal and instrumental group of four young men and a girl. They specialize, as the name would indicate, in western and hillbilly music but also branch out with a few popular modern numbers for variety. The Trail Hands are familiar to many in this area through their radio entertainment.

Besides the Trail Hands, there will be a one man vaudeville show put on by Danny Daniels and an acrobatic dance by Itonia Bradley.

Weight Losing Goal Is Near For Two Here

It begins to look like neither Don Gibson nor Robert Terhune would have to do a tap dance in public as the penalty for failure to reduce their weights by 25 pounds before Feb. 22.

At least, they both are confident of that achievement and their loss of poundage this month gives them encouragement.

Terhune, who weighed 286 pounds when the reducing contest started Jan. 2, is now down to 268 pounds. That is a loss of 18 pounds in a month—with only seven to go to make the 243-pound goal he set out for himself.

Gibson, who started with 248 pounds, is now down to 233. And, that is a 21-pound loss for the month—with only four pounds to go.

THEY WEIGHED in Wednesday morning on the Record-Herald commercial printing department scales as per their agreement at the start.

Terhune had lost 7 pounds in the last ten days and Gibson 6 pounds. They both were encouraged. They weighed in last week three days ahead of schedule by mutual agreement because Gibson had to be away at a business meeting last Wednesday, the regular weigh-in day.

Both said they had no intention of relaxing their diet just because they were so near the goal. The reason, they said, was "we feel better."

Neither has broken over the restricted menus they have been following since they started. The principal foods in their diets are green vegetables and lean meats. When they eat bread, it is with out butter; coffee and tea are without cream or sugar.

THEY AGREED that the re-

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—For each exemption you can legally claim you knock $600 off your income before the rest is taxable.

There are various exemptions and rules covering them: Husbands, wives, dependents, blind people, people 65 or over, and people who were born or died in 1951.

Everyone with $600 or more income last year must file a return, and everyone who does so gets a $600 exemption for himself.

A wife is not considered a dependent if she had no income, and you file a return but she doesn't, you claim an exemption for her.

If she had any income, no matter how small, you get no exemption for her unless she files jointly with you.

Where a husband and wife each had income but file separate returns, each claims his own exemption.

Can a wife be claimed as a dependent by someone like her father—it must be a close relative who supported her? Yes.

But then her husband can't claim any exemption for her because, when she's claimed as the dependent of another, she can neither file jointly with her husband nor claim any exemption for herself.

IF A WIFE does file jointly with her husband, she can't be claimed as a dependent by anyone else even though the latter supported her. In short, a wife can't be claimed as an exemption on two returns.

Couples divorced or legally separated any time in 1951—even as late as Dec. 31—must file separate returns for the year. Each then gets only his own exemption.

Even though a husband paid all the support of a divorced or legally separated wife he can't claim an exemption for her.

Husbands and wives living apart by Dec. 31, 1951, but not divorced or legally separated during that year, may file a joint return.

A man and wife are considered married for all of 1951 if they were married as late as Dec. 31, 1951.

Although no one has to file a return unless he had $600 or more income, a quirk in the old law said you couldn't claim as a dependent anyone who had $500 or more income. That's been changed.

Now you can claim as a dependent—no matter how young or old—anyone who had less than $600 income in 1951, who received more than half his support from you, and who is closely related by blood, marriage or adoption as follows:

YOUR CHILD or grandchild; a stepchild but not his children; a legally adopted child; a brother, sister, step-brother, step-sister, your parents, grandparents, or other ancestors; your step-father, step-mother; aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews; your father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law.

As an illustration of what close relation by blood means, you can't claim a cousin as a dependent.

Some government payments to veterans are tax-free. You can claim as a dependent a veteran who, although receiving tax-free government money, had less than $600 taxable income of his own and fitted the other requirements listed above for a dependent.

You can claim as a dependent for all of 1951 anyone born as late as Dec. 31, 1951, who truly fits the rules covering dependents, even though the child died a Storage Depot To Be Put Here By Aviation Co.

Midland Grocery Co. Leases Building to North American Co.

The North American Aviation Corp. has completed arrangements for establishing a storage depot in Washington C. H.

Walter L. O'Brien, head of the Midland Grocery Co. branch here, said a lease and agreement with North American had just been consummated. It calls for the company to take over the building formerly occupied by the Washington Candy Co. on Feb. 1, he said.

The building, which has been vacant for a little more than a year, is 165 feet deep and 50 feet wide. It fronts on South Main Street. On the north side is an alley between it and the Steen Store. On the south side is the Steen Store. On the south moment after birth. You can't claim as a dependent an unborn child or one born dead.

Can husband and wife, when filing separate returns, divide the exemptions for dependents between them? No. Only the person who has provided more than half the support of a dependent can claim him.

When husband and wife file separately in community property states, even though they contributed equally to the support of a dependent, either the husband or wife must take the entire credit.

If your husband or wife died during the year—even as early as Jan. 1, 1951—you are considered married for the year. So you can file a joint return, getting the benefit of his or her exemption.

IF A DEPENDENT died in 1951—even as early as Jan. 1, 1951—you can claim the full $600 exemption for him, provided he was truly a dependent during that part of the year in which he lived.

Besides his regular $600 exemption, a person filing a return gets an extra $600 exemption if he was blind on Dec. 31, 1951 and $600 extra for his wife if she was blind, in addition to the regular exemption for her, provided she was blind on the last day of 1951 and files jointly with him or, if she had no income, he alone files a return.

Where husband and wife file separately, the one who is blind claims his or her own regular $600 exemption, plus $600 for blindness.

Where husband or wife died blind any time in 1951, the surviving spouse, by filing a joint return, can claim that extra $600 exemption for the blind one who died. You can't claim an extra $600 exemption for a blind dependent.

A taxpayer who was 65 in 1951 can claim in addition to his regular $600 exemption an extra $600 because he was 65. He gets an extra $600 exemption for his wife if she was 65 in 1951—provided she files jointly with him or, having no income, she doesn't file at all.

If she had any income he gets no exemption for her unless she does file jointly with him. Where husband and wife are 65 but file separate returns, each claims his own exemption on his own return.

Who was 65 in 1951? The courts consider people 65 on the day before their 65th birthday. So if you didn't have your 65th birthday until Jan. 1, 1952, you can consider yourself 65 in 1951 for income tax purposes.

is the Yeoman Radio and Television Store.

North American will take over all four floors and the basement, O'Brien said. There is a loading dock on the side along the alley and at the back on another alley.

The lease agreement, O'Brien said, calls for no extensive remodeling. But the partitions are to be torn out, heating installation in the basement and top three floors (the ground floor is equipped for heat) and lighting according to specifications.

Workmen are now making these changes while the whole building is being cleaned and repaired and painted, where necessary, inside.

O'Brien said North American officials had told him the building would be for what was described as "live storage"—that is, airplane parts that would be moving in and out in a steady stream.

The company has a similar storage depot in Dayton and O'Brien said he understood it wanted another at an intermediate point.

From 15 to 20 men are to be employed, it was said.

Burke Co. Here Has Named New Sales Manager

Donald R. Swaim, formerly of Fostoria, is now here to assume his duties as sales manager for the P. J. Burke Monument Company, according to an announcement by Mrs. Agnes M. Burke, owner and manager of the Washington C. H. business.

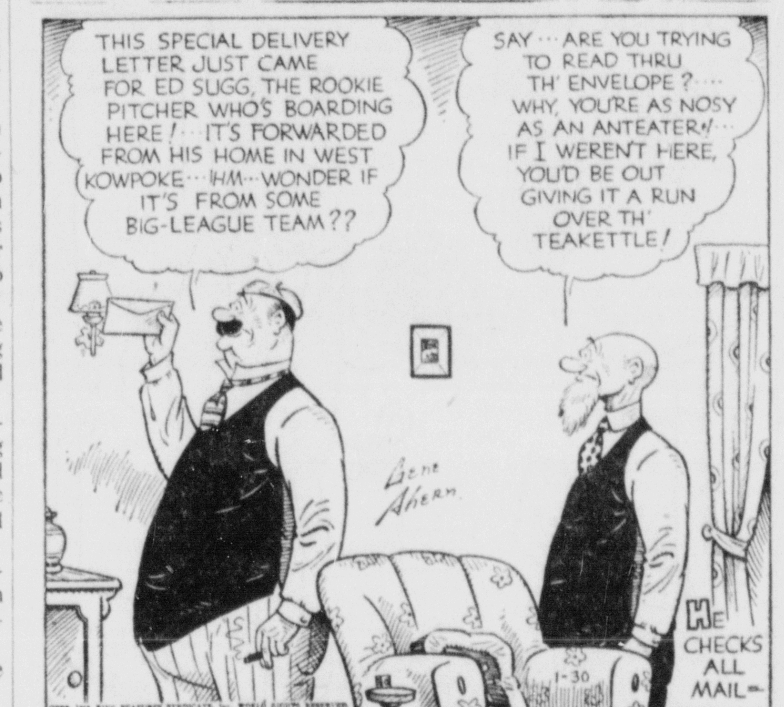

Donald R. Swaim

The new sales manager has been associated with the Fostoria Monument Co., as vice president since February 1, 1947. He resigned on January 15 this year to accept the new position here.

Swaim is a past president of the Fostoria Exchange Club and has been very active in civic and service club projects for many years.

By Gene Ahern

He was co-chairman of the Fostoria annual municipal Halloween parade and celebration for several years which was sponsored by the Exchange Club in conjunction with the merchants' association of that city.

According to present plans Mrs. Swaim and their two children will join Swaim here within the next two weeks. They will make their home at 532 North North Street.

Detailed Pollution Hearings Needed

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—The state Water Pollution Control Board was told Tuesday it must conduct 20 public hearings before it can extend its control over industrial wastes now being emptied into Ohio streams.

Fred Waring, chief sanitation engineer for the State Health Department, told the board he knows of 20 types of industrial waste.

The board operates under legislation passed by the last General Assembly which requires communities and industrial plants to get permits next September if they empty sewage or wastes into streams. But before the board can control industrial wastes, it must determine that pollution caused by the wastes can be lessened in a practical manner. That's the reason for the 20 separate hearings.

Taft-Eisenhower Campaign Warming Up

Fayette County people, showing increasing interest in the Taft-Eisenhower campaign for the Republican nomination for the presidency, are beginning to make themselves heard.

At present Taft seems far in the lead in this community, but there are more Eisenhower supporters in Fayette County than some believe.

Friends of Senator Taft in his campaign for the Republican nomination, say that he has been frank and outspoken as to his position on both foreign and domestic policies.

They further declare that until General Eisenhower also makes his position clear, the campaign for the nomination being pushed by friends, will suffer by reason of the fact that the people will want to know where he actually stands on many policies. Will he favor the foreign policies of the present Truman-Acheson administration or is he opposed to the policies so far followed?

Gen. Eisenhower has said that he will not go out into an active campaign but will accept the Republican nomination if it is offered to him. This is not as far as some of Eisenhower's nationally prominent friends would like to have him express himself, so some of them have been digging up material from some of his past speeches to make clear his views. They contend that he is a conservative of the old midwestern tradition.

Some revealing quotations from speeches he made are pointed to as showing where he stands. In a speech at Houston, Texas, he is quoted as asking, "How long can we keep up deficit spending without surrendering some of the things in which we believe?" and added, "personal security is not going to be achieved on a bankrupt economy." He expressed the same idea in different words in Fort Worth when he said: "How far can a government go in taxing away property rights and still not leave the government the master of the people instead of their servant?"

On another occasion, he observed, "If all Americans want security, they can go to prison. They'll have enough to eat, a bed and a roof over their head. But if an American wants to preserve his dignity and his equality as a human being, he must not bow his neck to any dictatorial government."

Speaking at Denver, he reportedly said, "We must have efficiency and economy in all government expenditures. It would do no good to defend our liberties against Communist aggression and lose them to our own greed, blindness, ignorance or shiftless reliance on bureaucracy and the federal treasury." On still another occasion he put the issue this way: "The central theme of our times is that of freedom against regimentation."

These quotations seem to accurately indicate the Eisenhower philosophy on domestic governmental policy. Now the question is whether his backers can overtake Taft.

Judging by past political precedent the odds are against them, and any such movement is at an obvious disadvantage when its leader may remain abroad.

The Taft strategy is to meet and talk to as many people as possible, and it has paid him handsomely. Eisenhower's best bet is probably a wave of public enthusiasm which would tilt the balance.

Higher Debt Limit?

Now it is reported that President Truman wants Congress to raise the present $275 billion limit on the national debt to $300 billion, so as to permit greater government borrowing and more deficit financing, which, of course, means more inflation.

Many who formerly accused those who opposed wild government spending of wanting to return to the horse-and-buggy days, now admit the latest Truman budget doesn't make horse-sense.

Sure You Want Television Career

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—The average television set owner knows what is wrong with video:

They don't have enough good shows.

Oddly enough, this knowledge is widely shared by television executives, too.

"The level of entertainment must be raised," said Hubbell Robinson, boss of Columbia's TV network productions.

But how? Like many another top brass figure in the industry today Robinson will fall on your neck if you suggest a fresh new program idea—or he'll shower you with money, if it's crass wealth you prefer.

"New ideas pour in here almost by the truckload," he said dolefully, "but there isn't a good one in a carload. And it's the old story—the best ideas come from the professionals, not the amateurs."

The trouble, as Robinson sees it, is this:

"In television the technical facilities have outstripped the creative skills. The caliber of creative people must be improved and improved. We must develop better writers, better directors, better producers."

"If we don't, television won't continue to hold the people as it does now."

"The actors and performers are OK, but we have to get more of them, and create new ones. We depend too much on stars who made their fame in other mediums, such as the radio, the theater and the movies."

The drain on television talent is already enormous.

"Our network puts on 70 program hours a week," said Robinson. "That's roughly equal to 70 motion pictures—more than the annual output of a major film studio. We turn out in a week what they do in a year."

This tremendous pressure takes its toll in nervous breakdowns among producers who get to living on diets of aspirin and coffee, pep capsules and sleeping pills.

"The answer partially lies in a longer period of preparation and planning of shows," said Robinson. "But so far the industry has mushroomed so fast we haven't had time to catch our breath."

"Every time you make a decision now, it's a pioneering move—and you don't know whether you're right or wrong."

Robinson believes television is wide open, however, to anyone—anyone, that is, with fresh ideas, a trigger-quick mind, and the physical endurance of a buffalo. He says:

"I think television will be the biggest factor in American living if the creative minds in it live up to the challenge. The public is eager and thirsty for real entertainment. The big thing is to come up with it."

Office of President Expanding

By George Sokolsky

The office of president has changed so radically that a generation has grown up which seems to have lost altogether the sense of a division of our government into three independent branches, with checks and balances, as carefully provided in the constitution.

This is startlingly interesting because it shows how swiftly the attitude of a nation can change. When Mr. Roosevelt demanded "blank check" appropriations from Congress, and got them, he weakened one of the most important congressional functions, namely, control the money of the nation.

Mr. Roosevelt made the budget, and Congress blindly approved on the theory that there was a more or less constant emergency. Two wars and a depression have left their impression upon the upcoming generations who have not been grounded in the history, nature and purport of our constitutional system.

The presidency has come to have an exaggerated significance in the minds of many Americans combining the functions of an elected prime minister and an hereditary king. The assumption seems to be that the president "leads" the nation, although the leadership principle was so repugnant to the founders of this country that the constitution set up checks upon his authority, many of which can have no other explanation than an unwillingness to extend to any man vast and unrestrained powers.

Most presidents have accepted constitutional restraints as the rule of the road: a few, like Andrew Jackson and perhaps Abraham Lincoln, found the restraints difficult in the circumstances of their times. Franklin D. Roosevelt's temperament was such that he evolved procedures to subordinate both Congress and the courts to his will.

However, he never altogether succeeded. Harry Truman has none of Roosevelt's astuteness nor does he command equal respect, with the result that he has been in a constant quarrel with Congress, including the members of his own party.

Nevertheless, the power and authority of the presidency have grown. If the respect for the incumbent is not exalted, at any rate, it is assumed that his office gives him an authority which often is not his at all, but rightly belongs to Congress or the judiciary.

The most glaring example of Mr. Truman's extra-constitutional activity is of course, the frightful and costly Korean war. A study of the time-table of the first 48 hours of our participation in that situation will show that the United States initiated the action taken and that therefore the United Nations "police action" was an afterthought.

This is only important because, according to the constitution, Congress alone is authorized to decide whether the United States goes to war or not. Congress, in the Truman pattern, gives its approval by voting funds. Nothing in the constitution authorizes this devious procedure. We may become involved in Wars in Burma, Malaya, French Indo-China, Iran and Turkey in the near future without an act of Congress despite the constitution.

Similarly, at Teheran and Yalta, decisions were taken of the broadest historic import, altering the map of the world, rearranging the nationalities of millions of human beings, placing upon the American people huge obligations and liabilities; yet none of it was done by normal constitutional methods. No treaties were prepared which were duly ratified by the Senate, as is provided for in the constitution.

All this was taken in the presidential stride, with little protest by the people who had grown accustomed to a less restrained presidency, which could, in time, become an unrestrained presidency.

Another example of the flouting of Congress was the appointment of Dr. Philip Jessup to his important position on the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly session in Paris after the Senate had rejected him for the post. A technicality made a recess appointment possible, but the intent of the senatorial action was so clear that a restrained president would not have employed it.

The American people can have any kind of government they choose and the constitution provides means for alterations, even to the extent of abolishing the constitution itself. The processes are orderly: to accomplish such changes by subterfuge is revolutionary and confusing. Much is being accomplished these days by propaganda that should be done by legislation that should be done by the legislature became a rump.

Perhaps one issue in the present campaign might be the constitution itself, and the role of the presidency in the American system.

Diet and Health Epilepsy Handicaps Cut by Modern Drugs

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Many people do not realize that epilepsy can now be controlled with drugs.

It is believed that if all the epileptic children could receive the necessary treatment at the hands of experienced physicians, very few would be handicapped by epileptic convulsions.

Epileptics usually have a hard time finding a useful place in society because of the feelings of others toward them. This is true even of epileptic children.

Needs Inspiration

Too often these children are shielded and made to feel ashamed of themselves. The epileptic child must be given inspiration and be taught that he can advance through life in spite of his condition.

There are still two unfortunate misconceptions about epileptics—that they have a hereditary disease and are feeble-minded. Both of these ideas are false. Epileptic convulsions may appear in a person at any age. There are about 750,000 epileptics in the United States, over half of them being under 20 years of age.

The causes of this disorder are many. Less than a fourth of the cases are due to scar tissue of the brain, resulting from a head injury. Most cases are due to an abnormality of the brain cells themselves, the cause of which is unknown.

Normal Powers of Thought

Many times, thinking ability is reduced in an epileptic person, but this is not the common rule. Most of these people have normal powers of thought, and may reach the superior level. Many with epilepsy are emotionally stable and well adjusted.

There are many different kinds and degrees of epileptic attacks. A typical, severe attack includes muscle tremors, rigidity, unconsciousness, and loss of control over the bladder and bowels.

At the other extreme, a seizure may appear as just a passing period of forgetfulness. Many episodes of temper tantrums, fainting, mental confusion, or blackouts may be slight cases of epilepsy that have missed diagnosis. These types, as well as brief periods of staring without obvious cause, are usually called petit mal epilepsy.

Unconscious Action

In one strange type of epilepsy in adults, the person may carry out an action without being aware of what he is doing.

The modern treatment of epilepsy is with drugs such as phenobarbital, dilantin, mesantoin and tridione. Such treatment can reduce the number of seizures in almost all cases, and often it prevents them entirely. However, not every drug works in every case. Only an experienced physician can determine the correct drug, after careful tests.

An instrument called the electroencephalograph is extremely helpful in diagnosing the type of epilepsy, so that proper treatment can be started for that particular form.

Parents Kill Daughter For 'Mocking God'

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 30.—Police Monday night read a statement to a coroner's jury in which a middle-aged couple said they beat and strangled their seven-year-old foster daughter to death because she "mocked God" and refused to pray.

"Now she's safe in the arms of the Lord," the statement given police by Gavin McCullough, 51, said. McCullough, former office manager of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce, and his wife, Lillian, 52, have been charged with murder. They were arrested Friday after the body of the child, Martha Louise, was found lying among an assortment of religious pamphlets in the McCullough home.

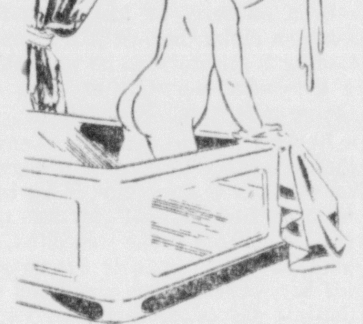

After the killing, police said, the couple went to a vacant lot and, in sub-zero weather, prayed all night. McCullough said they were waiting "for the coming of God, who was going to establish a second kingdom in Winnipeg."

POWERFUL PENNY!

Your GIANT "BUY" in household help

There's still one penny that buys a lot! Most pennies you spend nowadays give you very little—what with inflated prices and a burden of hidden taxes on practically everything you buy. But there's one penny that still buys a giant value. It's the biggest penny in your purse—one electric service penny.

One Powerful Penny buys a lot of household help. When you let low-cost electric service take over most of the hard work of housekeeping, you get full value for the pennies you spend. One Powerful Penny irons 4 table cloths or 35 napkins; squeezes 20 dozen oranges; or operates a kitchen mixer for a total of 2 hours—enough to mix 6 cakes; or runs a 40-watt kitchen ventilating fan for 8 hours. One Powerful Penny vacuums 6 large rugs, washes a whole day's dishes. Or, it does a 6-load washing for you.

Your electric service penny buys hours of extra comfort and convenience, hours of eye-saving light, hours of radio or television entertainment—all this in addition to saving your time and effort on the housework. Don't you agree? Powerful Electric Penny is the biggest penny you spend?

Rotarians Are Warned about Encroachment of Socialism

A serious warning was voiced by the featured speaker at the Tuesday Rotary Club luncheon regarding the pronounced drift into socialist legislation in this country, being brought about in a way not many people understand or recognize.

The speaker was William L. McGrath, president of the Williamson Heater Co. of Cincinnati, who for the past three years has acted as advisor to the employer-delegate of the American delegation to the conference of the International Labor Organization at Geneva, Switzerland.

McGrath will act in this same capacity again this year in attending the 35th annual conference in Geneva. He has been recommended by the president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and receives a presidential appointment for this assignment through a recommendation from the labor and state departments of the government.

Union labor also has a delegate and there are delegates representing the federal government.

The speaker was presented by Herbert E. Wilson of the January program committee, who mentioned McGrath's many important connections and services in industry and industrial relations.

IN EXPLAINING the socialistic trend in this country, McGrath pointed out that since this nation had joined the ILO (International Labor Organization) back in the days of the Roosevelt regime, the U. S. Senate had been persuaded to approve certain legislation of ILO origin, which under court decision, becomes an American law, binding Americans in this country. This action therefore takes precedence over any state or federal law and even stands above our U. S. Constitution.

According to McGrath the International Labor Organization's Geneva office with a large staff of workers has become practically the Socialist International. By reason of its influence in gaining United Nations organization approval of certain recommendations, and because of our connection as a part of the UN, this country is being beset with U. S. Senate action which makes many such suggestions and plans a part of law in this country.

THE ILO ORIGINALLY was a part of the old League of Nations. It had some excellent purposes in the beginning under the leadership of a great labor leader, Samuel Gompers. In later years it has become a "union" dominated organization rather than actually representing labor itself, McGrath indicated in his remarks.

He asserted that the main purpose of the ILO has become the gaining of more government power over the lives of people everywhere, which is the true Socialist doctrine.

Declaring that most European countries today are Socialist in one form or another, the speaker said they have never known freedom, or the competitive system, as we know it in this country today. Most government and labor delegates to ILO international conferences are unable to conceive of any desirable results except through all-powerful government action.

Delegates representing employers have opposed this philosophy but most of the ILO staff have been Socialists and the annual conferences have been packed, three to one, in favor of Socialist legislation. Delegations are made up of two government representatives, one union representative and one for employers. Most government representatives are Socialists as are most of the union men. Capitalism and the system of government prescribed by the Constitution of the United States are hopelessly outnumbered.

"A PATTERN for international government is being woven by the Socialist-Labor majority in the ILO McGrath warned. "The main idea thus far has been to establish the pattern."

The speaker said that with respect to most of the subjects on the ILO agenda, the usual procedure is for the majority party

(the Socialist-Labor coalition) to lay before the conference a proposed "resolution", "recommendation", or "convention", in much the same way as a bill is laid before members of our House of Representatives. These are then debated, amended, and if they secure a majority vote, "passed".

Resolutions and recommendations embody principles which the ILO says should be made a part of the law or practice of each member country. But "conventions" go even farther. When a "convention" is passed, each country is supposed, as a part of a treaty with the other countries, to submit that "convention" for ratification to its own law-making body. If approved, the "convention" then becomes a part of the law of the land.

"Here is the vital point as far as the United States is concerned," McGrath said. "In our country, ratification of a 'convention' appropriate for federal action is accomplished by submitting it to the U. S. Senate as an international

Camp Fire Girls See Record-Herald

Seven members of the Tandra group of Camp Fire Girls and their two advisors today had a little better idea of what goes into the making of a newspaper.

They came to the Record-Herald office right after school Tuesday afternoon and made a tour of inspection through the business office, the news room and the mechanical department, including the commercial printing department.

It was easily apparent that their greatest interest was in the line casting machines operating from perforated tape and manually, the casting room where the big plates for the press are made and the big 32-page press.

They arrived just in time to see the press start pouring out a stream of Tuesday afternoon Record-Heralds. They had fun trying to pick out the pictures, headlines and advertisements in the printed paper they had seen in type.

In the group were Connie Campbell, the president; Kathy Wright, the vice president; Nancy Wood, the secretary; Janet Ellis, the treasurer and Linda Holliday, the scribe or news reporter; Cathie Croker and Martha Parrett. With them were their advisors, Mrs. Darrell Wood and Miss Marian Moore.

When they left the Record-Herald office, they went to the junior room of Grace Methodist Church for a short business meeting.

Fatal Leap Not Worth a Nickel

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 30.—An unidentified man Monday night jumped off an Ohio River bridge and apparently drowned.

Azel Ramey, toll taker on the Huntington - Chesapeake bridge, said the man refused to pay a five-cent toll to walk across. When Ramey threatened to call the police, the man told him: "They won't get me anyway."

Ramey said the man, about 40 or 45 years old, climbed on the railing and jumped when two Huntington patrolmen approached him near the center of the bridge.

Lost 50 Lbs. With Renel Recipe

"I am 45 years old, and I have lost 50 lbs. with Renel in a period of 11 weeks," writes R. S. Jones, 165 E. Deshler Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "I feel better, and don't tire as easily, nor do I have that bloated feeling anymore. I am careful in eating, but eat about the same as I did before. I never had to go hungry to lose weight, and my thanks go to Renel."

Thousands have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. Obtain liquid Renel at your drug store, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic with the very first bottle, just return it to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment reducing with Renel.

Alleged Forger Is Bound Over

Joe E. Edwards, city, facing a charge of giving a forged check for $25, was held to the grand jury from municipal court Tuesday under bond of $1,000.

Failing to furnish the $1,000 he was taken to the county jail to await grand jury action.

The charge was filed by Howard Mace. The check was given Nov. 24, 1951, according to the affidavit.

Mace also filed a civil action against Edwards to recover the $25 lost on the forged check.

Britain Gets $300 Million Cash from U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Dollar-short Britain is being given an emergency $300 million slice of mutual security funds to prevent a threatened cutback of its defense effort.

The grant was announced Monday night by Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman, who said without it Britain would be forced to reduce its contribution to the Western arms buildup by twice as much.

The money will be used up to July 1 to buy "raw materials and components" which have to be paid for in dollars. The purchases will be made largely in the United States.

For the purpose President Truman approved a dip into military aid funds which otherwise might have been used for arms and supplies made in this country. The shift was necessary because Congress made no specific provision for aid to Britain in the new $7,328,903,976 arms aid legislation, although authorizing an emergency transfer.

The action came less than two weeks after Prime Minister Churchill assured Congress "I have not come here to ask you for money."

Solon Demanding Pay to U. S. POWs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Rep. Dempsey (R-NM) has appealed to the House to approve a bill to pay approximately $82 million to former American prisoners in World War II.

The bill would require Japan, Germany and other enemy nations to compensate American prisoners of war for "compulsory labor and inhumane treatment" in enemy prison camps. Dempsey declared.

"We already have paid prisoners of war whom we held $169 million under the Geneva Convention. We did that years ago, but not one cent has been paid to our men or their dependents."

Members volunteering their services in this worthy project were Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Jr., Mrs. Howard Somers, Mrs. J. M. Altemang, Mrs. Alice Cory, Mrs. Howard Nessel, Mrs. Hugh LaFollette, Mrs. Theodore Kneisley, Mrs. George Hachenbracht, Mrs. Dale Thornton and Mrs. Hugh Schwartz.

Wayne Home Demonstration Group Meets

The Wayne Home Demonstration group members assembled at Wayne Hall in Good Hope Tuesday, for an all-day session and a covered dish luncheon, with twenty-two members present.

During the morning session the members assembled lamps which are supplied by the Dayton Power and Light Company, under the supervision of Mrs. Norma Campbell, Fayette County Home Demonstration agent.

During the luncheon hour the ladies enjoyed informal chatting over the tempting viands served, with Mrs. Charles Garringer and Mrs. Everett Rife as hostesses.

During the afternoon Mrs. Campbell, assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes, demonstrated dress accessories, and the next meeting planned for February 26 at Wayne Hall will feature the project of fitting cotton dresses and the demonstration of small repairs in the home.

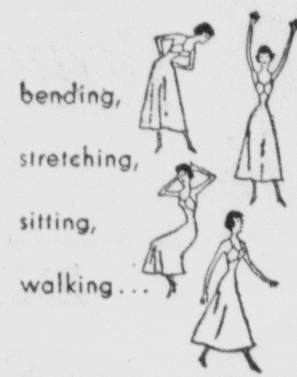

Members present for the meeting were Mrs. Marion Dawson, Mrs. Don Dawson, Miss Clara Rowland, Mrs. Floyd Rea, Mrs. Frank Lanum, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Charles Garringer, Mrs. Tom Braden, Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Mrs. Vena Waits, Mrs. O. C. Kibler, Mrs. William White, Mrs. O. C. Eckle, Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes, Mrs. Ernest Harper, Mrs. W. W. Herdman, Mrs. Virgil Garringer, Mrs. Harold Bonecutter, Mrs. Harry Thornhill and Mrs. Charles Morgan.

McLeans Hosts At Meeting of Class Members

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McLean extended the hospitality of their home Tuesday evening to the members of the Shepherd's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, for the regular January meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Everett Arnold, who read a poem entitled, "Fame and Fortune."

Impressive devotions followed and were led by Miss Metta Graves who used as her subject, "Love" and included Scripture taken from St. John, an article on the subject and closed with prayer.

The usual reports were heard and accepted and roll call was responded to by thirty-four members, with special reports including fifty-four calls made on shut-ins during the past month.

Liberal donations were contributed to the March of Dimes, the Leper Colony and to Mather Baptist School.

A beautiful lamp was presented by Mrs. Arnold in behalf of the class to Mrs. Kenneth Burnett, a member who expects to leave soon with her family for Leesburg, to make their home.

Mrs. Burnett conducted two interesting contests, which were greatly enjoyed, with all members participating, and the meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. L. B. Rogers.

Tempting refreshments in keeping with Valentine Day, were served by the host, and hostess, assisted by Rev. and Mrs. Francis T. McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bachelor and Mrs. Louella Coil.

Shirley Thompson and Helen Turner and program chairman, Carolyn Wilhelm and Mildred Ross.

Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, Mrs. T. N. Willis, and Mrs. Ed Hidy, president of the Senior Washington Garden Club, will serve as advisors of the club were included as special guests.

During a social hour following the meeting light refreshments were served by the young hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Robert H. Wilson.

Rich sugar cookies are delicious when sandwiched together with apricot jam.

Vatican Envoy Started in 1848

President Polk Named First One

By JACK BRUSINI

VATICAN CITY—More than 100 years have passed since the United States appointed its first diplomatic representative to the Holy See.

The first man to speak on behalf of the United States at the Vatican was Jacob L. Martin. He died on Aug. 26, 1848, shortly after his appointment here. A darkened tombstone under the black cypresses of the Protestant Cemetery in Rome recalls his death.

"To the memory of J. L. Martin, late Charge d'Affaires of the United States to the Holy See, who died at Rome, Aug. 26, 1848," the tombstone reads.

The United States decided to send its own representative to the Vatican at a crucial point in European history when Pope Pius IX was showing strong leadership in building the unity of Italy.

AFTER THE troublesome period which followed the fall of Napoleon and the European wars, the European powers strengthened their missions at the Vatican.

Pius IX was named on June 16, 1846, lived through one of the most stormy periods of Italian history, and died a virtual prisoner of the King of Italy on Feb. 7, 1878.

The American appointee arrived two years after the Pontiff had been crowned. Before 1848 the United States had only a consul in Rome.

President James K. Polk, a Democrat, recommended to Congress the appointment of a diplomat to the Vatican Dec. 7, 1847. Many anti-clerical and anti-papal speeches were heard in both Houses, before April 1, 1848, when the president signed the decree appointing the diplomat.

Martin presented his credentials and read a prepared speech considered by writers at the time "noble and dignified, even if read with too much emphasis."

Martin, in his speech, said the Pope "made so many useful and noble reforms that he deserves to have on earth the prize reserved in heaven for good achievements, and who, having deserved the gratitude of his people, has drawn the admiration of the whole world."

BEFORE COMING to Rome, Martin, born in North Carolina in 1798, had been head of a section in the Department of State, was for a few days secretary of state in March 1841, and had been secretary to the U. S. Legation in Paris from 1844 to 1847. He spoke French and fairly good Italian.

Martin arrived in Rome on Aug. 2, 1848 and went to a famous hotel in Piazza di Spagna. Aug. 19 he was received by the Pontiff "with the utmost cordiality". Pius IX took the U. S. diplomat by the arm and walked up and down his library, while expressing his pleasure in having established diplomatic relationship with a country "for which he had a very high esteem."

Martin saw the Pope only twice—the second time a few days later when he introduced a group of American naval officers. He died of a heart attack Aug. 26.

Rocky Fork Lake To Be Discussed At Meeting Here

State Officials To Give Explanation Of Complications

A group of newspapermen and a few others interested in the Rocky Fork Lake development in Highland County are to get together with some representatives of the state Department of Conservation at a dinner meeting at the Washington Hotel here Thursday evening to discuss reports that the lake dam completion may be held up indefinitely.

The meeting was arranged by Washington C. H. people because the city is in the area the lake would serve as a recreation center.

Invitations have gone principally to individuals in Hillsboro, Leesburg, Greenfield, Wilmington and Chillicothe. Most of those invited are connected with newspapers, the media through which the public is informed of public projects.

Interest in the Rocky Fork dam and lake here stems largely from the anticipated travel through here by recreationists to and from the park. Thousands of motorists are expected to go through Washington C. H.—and that, admittedly, would mean business for this community.

SPONSORS of the meeting said the primary purpose of the meeting was to get first hand information from the state department's representatives on the alleged snag hit by the project, the reasons behind the complications and what is being or will be done to solve the problems.

Delay in completion of the dam, reports from Columbus say, is the result of a recent ruling which requires the state to own adequate access and a 500-foot "lake" strip around the edge of each park area.

The newest development came to light when officials of the state Department of Natural Resources discussed ways and means by which they could get around the rule and complete the dam or, it was said, if they can't get around it, where they can get enough money to buy up 500 feet of land, which in some spots is valued at $3,000 an acre.

The ruling, it was said, was made ostensible to prevent land-development groups from grabbing up valuable acreage surrounding state parks.

V. W. Flickenger, chief of the division of parks, said on Jan. 4 that $100,000 would be needed to complete the project before anyone would be able to use the $1,250,000 lake for fishing, boating or swimming.

THE LEGISLATURE appropriated money for the construction of the dam and lake in the mid-1940's. Stonelick Creek Lake near Batavia and Cowan Creek Lake south of Wilmington were approved at the same time—and they are already completed.

The state spent $496,000 to acquire the land and $50,000 to clear it before it found out the federal government would not contribute $3,300,000 to the state's $1,400,000 for the projects as indicated in 1945 with a provision that the dams

Poet's Corner

I KNOW
I know that spring will come again
And winter lose its sting;
I know the flowers will bud and bloom...
I know the birds will sing;
Tho' sullen skies bedim my eyes
And icy breezes blow;
I know that spring will come again,
For God has willed it so.

I know that spring will come again
And warm the frozen earth;
I know its magic wand will fill
The land with joy and mirth;
I'm fretful of the frozen winds...
I'm tired of sleet and snow;
I know that spring will come again,
For God has willed it so.

I know that spring will come again,
And stir the drowsy streams;
The laggard, rayless sun, once more,
Will flaunt its choicest beams;
I'm weary of the barren trees
And nature's pensive woe;
I know that spring will come again,
For God has willed it so.

would be convertible for flood control purposes.

After learning the federal government would not help, Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced that the state would go ahead and build the dam for recreational purposes. Making the change cost the state an estimated $40,000.

Finally, in December of 1950, the state board of control granted the project an additional $70,000 and a $699,092 contract for the construction of a multiple-purpose dam was awarded to The Fisher Construction Co. of Cincinnati. Completion date was set for Aug. 1, 1952.

The Rocky Fork Lake, which will cover about 2,020 acres when the dam is completed, is about 30 miles from Washington C. H. Many Fayette Countians have been looking forward to it as an outdoor recreation spot.

Tax Collection Will Begin Soon

County Treasurer Charles Fabb is planning to open the books for the collection of taxes about February 15. The closing date will be March 31.

The last of the duplicate was turned over to the treasurer last week, and the work of making out the bills is now under way in his office.

It required six and a half days to place the tax on the duplicate at the auditor's office. The duplicate for each of the various taxing districts was turned over to the treasurer as it was completed.

The total tax duplicate in the county shows a valuation of $42,111,830, including real estate and personal tax.

Last year the personal property valuation reached $10,369,962, it was announced at the county auditor's office.

Delaney Given Stiff Sentence

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Denis W. Delaney, ousted collector of internal revenue for Massachusetts, was sentenced Tuesday to two years' imprisonment and fined $10,500 on convictions of receiving $7,500 in bribes and falsifying that $180,000 in tax liens had been satisfied.

Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. sentenced Delaney to two years in prison on each of three counts in an indictment which said he received $7,500 to influence tax decisions. The court ordered that the terms be served concurrently.

He also fined Delaney $2,500 on each count the amounts he was accused of soliciting and receiving.

Soviet Industrial Output Shows Gain

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—The Soviet Union officially announced Tuesday its 1951 industrial production was 16 per cent higher than in 1950.

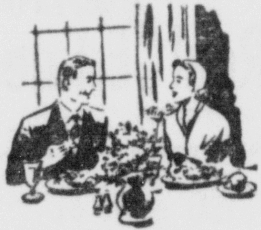

At the same time, the general income of workers and peasants increased by 10 per cent during the year. Industrial production as a whole exceeded the 1951 state plan by 3½ per cent, it said, although three branches fell short of their goals. These three were timber 94 per cent of its quota, cotton growing—99.7 per cent, and railways, 99.1 per cent.

Old Landmark in City Lost in Tuesday Fire

One of the old landmarks of Washington C. H. went up in flames Tuesday morning when the long two story frame building on West Market Street, known as the Cherry Flats, was gutted by fire.

Few realized the historical background of the old building and fewer still could remember it as anything but what it was the day it burned.

But, some of the old timers were able to piece together its story, mostly from what they had been told as youngsters.

The Cherry Flats of the modern era was the Cherry Hotel in the early days when Washington C. H. was hardly more than a cross-roads settlement.

As the original Cherry Hotel, it stood on the corner of Main and Market streets where the present big red brick Cherry Hotel stands.

IT WAS BUILT by Harvey P. Cherry, but just when nobody could recall with any certainty. The general guess, however, was that it was put up right after the Civil War, perhaps during it, as a sort of tavern type of hostelry.

The office then was on the corner, the guest rooms along Market Street and the dining room along Main Street.

Along in 1894 or 1895, the dining room was torn down and the guest room section moved back to the alley to make way for the present Cherry Hotel which was built by Dr. J. F. Dennis in 1896.

But before the original Cherry Hotel gave way to progress, many notables of that day had registered there as guests for lodgings and meals. A few of them recalled by old timers included President William McKinley, Sen. John Sherman, Gov. J. B. Foraker, Gov. James W. Campbell, Henry Watson, (famed Louisville, Ky., editor), Gen. Fitzhugh Lee and many celebrities of the stage such as Madern and Fisk.

Following the death of Dr. Dennis, the hotel was run by his son-in-law, the late Howard C. Griffis. Since his death, it has been under the management of Charles Dunton, for Mrs. Griffis.

Bride-to-be, 73 Warns of Haste

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Grace Scott, a 73-year-old widow who is getting married Wednesday to 82-year-old Isaac Foltz, advises that people should "not be hasty in choosing their mates."

She explains that she and Foltz, a widower, have known each other 10 years and that her "respect has grown to become an affection for him."

The former accountant and salesman says "I was lonesome and Mrs. Scott was an ideal companion. I just picked up the phone and popped the question, and she said, 'Yes.'"

New Federal Budget Would Cost Everyone In This County $541

Operation of the federal government for the fiscal year 1952-1953 will cost the residents of Fayette County an estimated $12,212,000, if the budget of $85,444,000,000 presented to Congress by President Truman is enacted into law.

Estimated cost for Ohioans for this spending program would be $5,109,551,000, a statewide average of $643 for every man, woman and child, according to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce figures just released officially.

The average cost per person in Fayette County, based on the 1950 population of 22,554, would be $541.

Real estate, public utility and tangible personal property taxes paid by Fayette County for 1949, not including certain special levies, amounted to $582,070.

This means that this county's share of the proposed national administration budget, is 21 times the amount of regular taxes paid by this county.

COMPARISON with some neighboring counties shows that the proposed new national budget would cost Clinton County $14,307,000, an average of $559 per person and approximately 21 times its normal real estate, public utility and tangible personal property tax paid in 1949.

Highland County, under this budget, would pay $12,621, an average per capita tax of $448 and a total of nearly 28 times its regular county taxes.

Greene County would pay a total of $24,475,000, amounting to $416 per capita and 20½ times its normal county tax.

Madison County would pay $11,752,000, per capita $527 and nearly 20 times its normal tax exclusive of certain special levies.

In the case of Pickaway County the estimated cost of the proposed federal budget would be $13,898,000, with a per capita amount of $473 for its 1950 population of 29,352. This would be 17½ times its normal county tax based on its 1949 taxes paid.

Ross County would pay $24,526,000, averaging $451 for each of its 54,424 population, 22¼ times its county tax.

THE STATE'S estimated share of $5,109,551,000, the Ohio C of C reported, represents one and one-fifth times the total amount of general property taxes levied by all Ohio political subdivisions during the 20-year period between 1930-1950 amounting to $4,257,644,410, or approximately the total amount of general property taxes levied by all Ohio political subdivisions since 1928, amounting to $5,146,919,433.

By other comparisons, Ohio's estimated share also represents: Thirteen and one-half times the total expenditures for Ohio public schools during the school year, 1950-1951, amounting to $377,137,792. This includes capital outlay, interest, and debt retirement.

Six and one-fifth times the all-time high amount of $822,969,873, appropriated by the Ohio General Assembly to operate the State government for the 1951-1953 fiscal biennium.

Thirty and one-fifth times the entire yield of the Ohio Sales Tax during the calendar year 1951, amounting to $169,324,591.

ESTIMATE of Ohio's share of $5,109,551,000 was determined by the Ohio Chamber's research department on the basis that the state's residents and taxpayers currently bear 5.98 percent of the total federal tax burden.

The board of directors of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce meeting in Columbus this week, called on Congress and the administration to hold the budget to anticipated revenues now estimated at $70,900,000,000.

Such action, the Ohio C of C explained would eliminate an anticipated deficit of $14,544,000,000, and avoid deficit financing.

If the budget were balanced at $70,900,000,000, he said, Ohio's share would be $4,245,800,000 for the state, as compared with $5,109,551,000 under the proposed $85,444,000,000 budget.

This would effect a savings for the state-at-large of $863,751,000 or $109 on the average for every individual in the state. The average burden for each individual would be $534 as compared with $643 under the Truman proposal.

The remedy, the Ohio C of C explained, is either to reduce wasteful spending or increase taxes. It pointed out that with three new tax increases in a year, America is already being taxed to the point of diminishing returns.

The only recourse, it is stated, is a substantial cut in federal spending if the American economy is not to be endangered.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce urged all Ohio citizens to write or wire their Congressional representatives and United States Senators Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker, demanding that the Ohio delegation in the Congress use its influence to slash extravagant and wasteful expenditures at Washington.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I see a petty squabble shaping up on the front page of Friday's paper. I hope there is still time for folks to stop to consider before any more words are hurled. It is especially unpleasant to find such antagonism where the aim of interschool athletics is to teach fair play and sportsmanship.

I thought sports were encouraged in our schools to teach good health and mental habits. If the dressing and shower rooms used only by players and coaches are found to have cigarette stubs and bottles the good money spent for coaches salaries, athletic equipment, and all the many expenses of basketball games is tax money wasted.

There is a state fire marshal's code that makes smoking in public buildings illegal. Why should the county school administrators defend illegal conduct and criticize the Washington Board when it insists upon recognition of the law?

Aren't there training rules for players anymore? Perhaps it is time to investigate interscholastic athletics on the local scene. Are basketball players permitted to smoke or do the coaches do all of it?

From another angle, the rental of the Washington High School gymnasium as asked by the Board was scarcely enough for the janitors' fees. The city board is responsible to the fire marshal for activities in the building; they are responsible to the people of the city for the care of the building.

Perhaps the rural high schools are not responsible for all the followers of the teams and their conduct, but any high school athletic contest must have policing. Emotions get out of control. Washington provides policing for its own games. Is it unreasonable to ask that the other schools do the same?

Washington High School can well afford to let the county tournament go elsewhere, if the county schools don't care to abide by the fire regulations and provide proper policing of the games. Is there any reason why the Washington school officials and taxpayers should be responsible for the behavior of the rural school personnel and patrons? It is the American way for every one and each group to bear its own responsibility.

Or so it looks to me, an outsider

1952 Madame Butterfly Is Aussie Soldier

TOKYO, Jan. 30.—There's a tragic new twist to the old and evensad story of "Madame Butterfly."

In the 1952 version of the tender love story of Cho Cho San, the victim isn't the girl from the Orient. It's the serviceman from the West.

The man is a heart-broken former Australian soldier — Frank L. Weaver. Or, as he prefers to be called, Tetsuichiro Kitagawa.

Today, Weaver — Kitagawa sits lonely and forlorn in a Japanese jail. He faces a deportation trial in a Japanese court for a seventh attempt to smuggle himself back into Japan to be with his little Japanese wife, Sachiko.

But worse than his trouble with the law is his heartache. For he told Japanese newsmen, Sachiko hadn't waited for him.

He said she gave her heart—in succession—to two other Australian servicemen.

In Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly," the Japanese girl, waited for her man. She was wed in Japan to Lt. B. F. Pinkerton of the U. S. Navy and never gave up hope when he sailed away, promising to return. When he came back with an American wife, three years later, Madame Butterfly yielded their son to the officer and committed suicide.

Weaver is a popular man in Japan, where everyone loves a lover, especially a tragic one.

Two Japanese lawyers have volunteered to defend him.

Which is more than anyone offered to do for Madame Butterfly.

U. S., Canada Making Swaps On Atom Data

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The United States has given some hitherto secret atomic information to Canada and has received some in return under an arrangement declared "beneficial" to the United States.

Chairman Gordon Dean of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, announcing this Monday, did not disclose the nature of the information given by either country.

He said only "it's classified—secret—within an area" of atomic development.

But there are grounds for speculation the United States may be getting new details on Canada's unique "heavy water" atomic reactor—a device which conceivably could be the model for explosives—producing reactors now in prospect at the projected American H-bomb plant.

American atomic experts have publicly rated the Canadian device as the "most advanced" in design and performance among all known reactors.

She Actually Didn't Have A Thing To Wear

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(AP)—When a woman says "I haven't a thing to wear" she's usually stretching the truth a bit.

But model June Bright wasn't kidding when she told that to police Monday.

Miss Bright, 25, wife of disc jockey Gene Norman, showed up at the station in a brief, black satin bathing suit and told this story: She was moving to a new home and wore only the bathing suit while packing in 76-degree weather. She put her entire wardrobe, $4,000 worth, in her car. Then she donned a coat, drove with friends to a cafe and went in to eat. When she came out the wardrobe was gone.

Officers were sympathetic, but were inclined to agree with a detective who remarked of the shapeless blonde: "She doesn't need anything but a bathing suit."

McGrath Probe Ordered By House Panel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The House Judiciary Committee Tuesday ordered an investigation of the administration of the Justice Department and the office of Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

The investigation will be made by seven members of the committee, four Democrats and three Republicans, to be designated by Chairman Celler (D-NY). It was ordered at a closed session.

"I've guaranteed my family a home, no matter what happens!"

Would YOU leave a mortgage for your family, in the event of your death? Could they pay it? Would they lose their home?

You can solve that problem with a Farm Bureau Monthly Income Plan. It guarantees the money to pay off the mortgage if you don't live to do it. The cost is low. Your local Farm Bureau insurance representative can figure how little investment you must make. Call—sion of the committee and by a vote members would not disclose. The committee's action follows tax scandal disclosures touching on the Justice Department headed by McGrath, and President Truman's designation of McGrath to direct a clean-up drive against corruption in government.

As the committee met, Keating charged McGrath's friends with seeking to shift responsibility for administering the Justice Department from McGrath to the President. He asserted "terrific pressure" was being exerted by the administration on Democrats to head off the proposed inquiry. Other observers, however, said Democratic strategy appeared to be aimed at limiting the scope of the investigation rather than killing it.

The Ohio Yorkshire Bred Gilt SHOW AND SALE

February 2, 1952
FAIRGROUNDS
WASHINGTON C. H., OHIO

SHOW 10:30 A. M. SALE 1:00 P. M.

YORKSHIRE BREEDING STOCK IS NOT EXPENSIVE. Yorkshire is a farmer's breed sold at farmers' prices. It is not the toy of the rich man.

YORKSHIRES ARE GOOD USERS OF PASTURE. They are good foragers and fit well into grassland farming.

YORKSHIRE SOWS HAVE A LONG PRODUCTIVE LIFE SPAN. Yorkshire sows can produce from two to four litters more than hard-type sows before going to market. A Yorkshire sow is a good longtime investment.

YORKSHIRE PIGS GROW WELL. The heaviest 150-day weight in the Ohio Swine Improvement Ass'n. to date is a Yorkshire litter of 12, weighing 2074 pounds.

BEST YORKSHIRE BREEDING FROM U. S., CANADIAN AND ENGLISH BLOOD LINES ARE OFFERED AT THE OHIO STATE SALE. Ohio breeders have spared no expense in their search for improved stock.

An Open GILT will be GIVEN on the day of the sale to an FFA or 4-H member. The gilt is furnished by the Ohio Yorkshire Swine Breeders Association. Registration between 11:00 A. M. and 1:00 P. M. Drawing at close of sale. Member must be present to win.

Lunch will be served in the building. Write Donald M. Ruhl, Mt. Gilead, Ohio, for catalogue

Cincy Sharpshooters Await Friday Contest

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—(P)—It will be only perfectly natural if, come Friday Robin Freeman looks across the basketball court at Phil Wheeler and sings, "I can do anything better than you."

Freeman, from Cincinnati Hughes, and Wheeler, from Cincinnati Western Hills, are two of the hottest Class A high school basketball scoring machines in Ohio this year—and Friday night they'll be playing against each other.

Freeman is the 5-11 lad who is setting all kinds of basketball records with an average of slightly better than 38 points a game. And Hughes has done no better than win five of his 13 games.

Who is Wheeler? He is a 6-4 blond sharpshooter from Western Hills who has poured in points at an average of almost 25 a game.

And he's also playing on a team that has won only five of 13 games. In spite of his scoring he almost has been overlooked completely.

THE WORD around the Queen City is that Wheeler hasn't had his light hidden under a bushel—it's been hidden under Freeman.

For example, when Wheeler was clicking off better than 20 points in every game, Freeman was going over the 30 mark. Wheeler went to 37 last week and Freeman had games of 56 and 50 points each. Friday's contest will be the second in which the two boys have faced each other. The first was early in the season before either had attracted so much attention.

Lonesome Golfer Uses Caddies To Give Competition

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—(P)—Cypress Point is one of the world's most exclusive golf clubs—only 102 members.

So for three days last week an unusual links safari threaded its way around the course, on Monterey Peninsula.

It was composed of one member and seven caddies. The member, distinguished but unobtrusive, enjoyed every round. His partner was a caddy. Their opponents in the foursome were caddies. The other four caddies simply caddied.

The member footed the bills. He paid all seven caddies. Bing Crosby was the club member. There weren't any other members on hand so he recruited competition from the caddies.

Bloomington Wins From Jackson Twp.

Bloomington's Bulldogs rolled over Jackson Township, 58 to 49, to chalk up their 12th win of the season. The game was played at the Coliseum in Circleville Tuesday evening.

Jackson led at the end of the first half and seemed to have the game pretty well under control, but the third quarter found the Bulldogs pulling up and when the period ended they were ahead 42 to 33.

Frank Truitt, Bulldog coach, switched his team from a zone to a man to man defense which helped bring about the change. Jackson tried a pressing defense in the latter part of the third frame, but a couple of long passes down court broke it up.

Dan Weaver led the Bulldog charge with 20 points while McFarland and Hoover, Jackson forwards, led their team with 12 tallies each. The Bulldogs showed good teamwork and were handling the ball in close to top form.

Bloomington's Reserves lost the opener by a narrow 33 to 30 score. The Bulldogs will take on the Mad Antons of Good Hope, on the latter's court, Friday for a county league tilt.

Mauri Rose Quits As Race Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—(P)—Mauri Rose, one of the best competitors in any sport, has retired from auto racing.

For the last 15 Memorial Day 500-mile races at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the top drivers considered Rose the man to beat. He won in 1947 and 1948 and was co-winner with Floyd Davis in 1941. The chances Mauri didn't mind taking for himself, he can't take for his two children, he decided. The mother of Mauri Jr., 10, and Doryn 8, is dead.

Sedalia Cagers Win From Jeffersonville

Sedalia's basketeers were slow to get started, but when they did get rolling they were in high gear and hard to stop as they romped to a 60 to 46 victory over Jeffersonville's Tigers on their own floor. Bogenrife was the most irritating thorn in the side of the Tigers. He hit the hoops from all over the place to amass 23 points.

The Tigers got off to a good start, so good that they looked like a shoo-in. After taking a 17-8 lead in the first period and holding a 32-26 edge at the half-time, the Tigers bogged down after the intermission when the Sedalians started their stretch drive that carried them to a decisive victory.

Once the visitors got rolling there was just no stopping them. The victory in the Varsity game gave the Sedalia basketeers a clean sweep for the evening. In the opener, they beat the Jeffersonville Juniors 27 to 15—which was not nearly as bad as the 61 to 7 defeat they had handed them less than a week before.

And in the second game the three-game card, the Sedalia Reserves took a 34 to 26 decision.

Proper front wheel alignment is highly important!

JUST a bad bump at the curb can sometimes throw the wheels of any car slightly out of line... without the driver's knowing about it. Then you'd literally be dragging your tires sideways over miles of highway.

Don't risk it. It's cheaper and safer to drive in now for our Precision Wheel Alignment Service. We'll check the steering-gear assembly, inspect front-end alignment and make precision adjustment, balance front wheel assemblies, equalize pressure in tires.

Remember—ours is the authorized Chrysler-Plymouth service, by experts who know your car inside and out.

Dallas Texans New Member Of Grid Loop

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(P)—A quick switch of names and an even quicker flourish of a pen has combined to give the National Football League a new member, the Dallas Texans.

Both moves were masterminded Tuesday in the Philadelphia headquarters of the league by Giles E. Miller, a Texas textile tycoon. Miller, 31 years old and head of a 16-member syndicate from the Lone Star state, thus becomes the youngest president in the NFL.

With loop Commissioner Bert Bell, Miller completed an agreement to purchase a franchise plus title to the players under contract to Ted Collins and the New

Figures on Arkansas Elections Show How Freedom Jeopardized

Almost every week from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 an election is held somewhere in the United States. A school district needs more money, your town is electing a mayor, the county has a new road program to finance, the state legislators are being chosen, or the nation is electing a President.

Every one of these events in which you are eligible to vote affects your future—politically and in the pocketbook. And yet if you are a typical American citizen, most of the time you don't vote.

In four out of five elections—if your voting record is average—you hand over this basic citizenship right, this most important human freedom, to a group of people whom you must trust to be public-spirited and so unselfish they have your interest as well as their own at heart. When you don't vote, vote, someone in effect decides something for you much like a distant guardian deciding where an orphan shall work, or go to school, or have an allowance or not have one.

A public school tax election was held in many Arkansas communities recently. Local school boards were asking for a boost in millage on property tax assessed at the local level. This issue had a direct effect on the pocketbook of every property owner and school teacher and indirectly affected the parents and children of every family in the district where the election was held. And yet, in the city of Fayetteville, population 12,000, only 456 people voted; in Warren, population 4,000, 357 voted; in Hot Springs population 30,000, fewer than 3,000 votes were cast; and in Little Rock, capital city of 100,000, only 5,140 people voted.

THESE FIGURES are perhaps representative of school elections, since, on the average, Arkansas citizens are about as politically active as those of neighboring states. But the fact remains that the year-in-and-year-out voting record of the nation as a whole is only about 20 per cent of perfect.

This failure to do our duty weakens our Democratic form of society and our Republican form of government. You could almost say that our nation is only 20 per cent as strong, and as democratic, and as wholesome, and as sound, and as safe as it ought to be—and as it could be!

The voting record of the American people has disturbed me for a long time. Too few of our people are actually "running" our country through the exercise of their voting franchise. And not enough citizens are as well informed on all the political and economic aspects of the issues as I would like to see them. In this whole realm of political action and economic education, the best chance for improvement lies in the ability to attract the citizen's self-interest.

Let us suppose there were to be held a meeting of the board of directors at the place where you work, and that the business of that meeting was to decide whether your salary should be increased or reduced.

If you were a stockholder and had a voting privilege on that board of directors, where would

You be when the meeting was called to order? Rain or snow, sleet or cold wouldn't keep you away, would it? Of course not. When your economic future is at stake you want to be in on the decision.

Let us suppose, further, that at this same board meeting your privilege of voting on questions affecting your economic future were going to be challenged. This challenge to your freedom would be added incentive for your being present and voting, wouldn't it? Of course. Well, your self-interest, both economic and political, is affected to some degree by every election in which you vote or fail to vote.

The power of the American citizen's vote is his power to remain free. If enough of us fail to use that power, our nation cannot remain free. When a minority rules a nation, and continues to rule, its numbers shrink and its powers expand until there exists a dictatorship and individual freedom disappears. If we place a value on our personal freedom and on economic progress for ourselves and our families we had better—all of us—work to make 1952 the "voting-est" year in history. Ten people, on the average, in each block in every residential section in the country have not been voting at all. America cannot be safe and strong with such a weakness in our democracy. Let's all work to change this.

Political Programs 'Dime a Dozen'

NILES, Jan. 30.—Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) says "America is saddled with unprincipled men in power, who are fostering unprincipled programs and unprincipled policies." He asserted: "Down through these bewildering years there has been set up repeatedly the cry: 'What do you Republicans stand for?' You have no program." Have you noticed that we hear less and less of this kind of talk? A great part of this re-awakening of our people has been the rediscovery that political programs are a dime a dozen.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Danish Woman Takes B&PW on Tour of Country

Graphic Talk Gives Club Look into Her Homeland

Mrs. Johanne White of Columbus, attired in the costume of her native Denmark, took members of the Business and Professional Women's Club on a word tour of her home country at their meeting Tuesday night in the Country Club.

She described a trip she made to her homeland two years ago.

"In flying over Denmark in the spring," she said, "the country resembles a well-kept garden. It is a peaceful country, level, and with well-kept farms, 64 percent of them being less than 13 acres, so that every foot of ground must be used.

"IT IS PRIMARILY a dairy country, with rye being the only grain grown to any extent. Corn cannot be grown at all, and very little wheat is raised, most of the flour being imported from the United States," she explained.

SHE SAID that two and one half countries the size of Denmark could be placed within the state of Ohio.

To explain why many articles are still rationed so long after World War II, she said that the country is poor and must export everything possible.

She stated that the bicycle was a much-used means of transportation since few except royalty could afford luxuries such as cars, electric refrigerators and bath rooms.

At a recent auction of 13 cars, an American automobile in the lower price range, (a 1939 model,) sold for $3,000. Gasoline costs 75 cents a gallon in Denmark, with 40 cents of the amount being tax. They have a community tax of 11 percent and a state tax of 20 percent, on income.

The price of building material went up 79 percent in 1951. In the first three months of 1951 there were 24,000 young Danes who asked permission to leave Denmark. Although many will not be permitted to leave, this desire of so many workers to go to some other country is a serious problem, she said.

MRS. WHITE said she was amazed that tulips in Denmark were so beautiful. She said they had been sent by Holland and Belgium to repay the Danes for the food sent to them after the war. They were not ordered to do this, and she cited this as a good example of international friendship.

She declared: "Once you've lived in America, you would never want to live any other place. America gives us the opportunity to make something of ourselves."

During the brief business session, a collection was taken up for the March of Dimes drive, to be added to the club's donation. The president, Mrs. Wanda Wilson, thanked the members for their excellent response in furnishing cookies for the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit on January 24.

Florence Cook, membership chairman, presented the names of Mrs. Amanda Kier and Mrs. Connie Schorr as prospective members. She also introduced the committee which had charge of the evening's program. It consisted of Mrs. Fern Chaffin, Mrs. Mary Ellen Delinger, Miss Norma Flee, Miss Lillie Henkle, Mrs. Marjorie Looker, Mrs. Lucy R. Barker, and Miss Frances White.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Margaret Finley, Mrs. Mary Emma Johnson, Mrs. Amanda Kier, Mildred Moss, Mrs. Lucy Sells, and Mrs. Frances Wilson.

Wayne Wonder Workers Give $5 to Polio Drive

Members of the Wayne Wonder Workers 4-H Club decided to donate $5 to the March of Dimes polio drive during their regular meeting at the Wayne Hall.

The members also decided to change their meeting time from the fourth to the third Monday of each month.

Following the meeting, Nancy Sollars conducted a quiz on safety. She asked the members questions about safety in the home and the girls answered them.

Jean Cupp will give a demonstration on the proper way to lay out a pattern for a skirt at the next meeting on Feb. 18.

County Courts

After being out 20 minutes the jury in the case of Albert Riffle against Rollo Hodge, returned a verdict in favor of Hodge, at 2:50 P. M. Tuesday.

Riffle had filed suit for $1,000 damages as the result of being bitten by a dog owned by the defendant. The case was tried Tuesday before Judge H. M. Rankin and a jury.

TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

Trial of the case of Denny Heath against the Standard Oil Co., filed Nov. 14, 1950, will start in common pleas court Monday morning. Heath brought suit for the right to participate in the workmen's compensation fund and for other relief. He is represented by R. N. Larrimer. The defendant is represented by McAfee, Grossman, Taplin, Hannidy, Newcomer and Hazlett of Cleveland.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Suit for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty has been filed in common pleas court by Henrietta Kestner against Carl Kestner, to whom the plaintiff was married in Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1, 1947.

Custody of their two children, alimony and other relief are asked by the plaintiff. She also obtained a restraining order to prevent the defendant from interfering with her in any way. Junk and Junk represent the plaintiff.

WILL FILED

The will of William C. Davis has been filed for probate. March 4 has been set by Judge H. M. Rankin for hearing on the application to probate the instrument.

STATEMENT FILED

A statement has been filed instead of an inventory and appraisal in the estate of Ernest N. Fout.

NO ADMINISTRATION

Probate Judge Rell G. Allen has relieved the estate of Margaret E. Dutton from administration.

AFFIDAVIT APPROVED

The probate court has approved an affidavit filed by Anna Pauline Braden, in the Thomas Ross Braden estate.

Firemen Fight Blaze 13 Hours

Water Poured into Ruins of 'Flats'

It was 5 P. M. Tuesday before firemen completed the work of extinguishing the fire in the ruins of the Cherry Flats building, which was virtually destroyed. The blaze started about 4:30 A. M. Tuesday. Firemen were on the job 13 hours.

Throughout Tuesday, one line of hose was kept busy playing water on the smoking debris and it was about 4:30 P. M. when the stream was cut off. The fire was completely extinguished as far as the firemen could ascertain then.

Some of the east end of the two-story structure escaped the worst of the fire. The line of hose carried over the top of the Cherry Hotel was largely responsible for saving the part of the building next to the Cherry Hotel and preventing damage to the hotel proper.

IT WAS A LONG, cold job for the firemen, some of whom suffered frostbitten fingers and were thoroughly numbed by the bitter cold.

In all, 1,800 feet of hose was strung out in the streets. Three lines were used to pour water into the blazing structure until the flames were definitely under control.

A great amount of water was used, and fortunately the pressure had been built up to 40 pounds and more with the use of the big wells at the pumping plant from a reservoir into which water from four deep wells was pumped to build up the supply.

Fire Chief George Hall and the other firemen were roundly praised for the manner in which they handled the fire, and for holding it to the one building, with no damage to the Cherry Hotel or the Frank Jackson home across the alley to the west.

No announcement has been made as to what will be done about the destroyed structure.

Several Arrests Made on Tuesday

Several arrests were made by the state highway patrolmen Tuesday. Part of the cases were set down for hearing in municipal court Wednesday and others on Friday.

Fern M. Allen, Milledgeville, was picked up for driving over a fire hose during the Cherry Flats fire Tuesday. She posted $15 bond for appearance in municipal court later.

The patrol arrested several for reckless operation of motor vehicles.

These included: Richard C. Laurie, city; Oma E. McGlocklin, Nashville, Tenn., who posted $15 bond; Harry L. Collins, Hillsboro, bond of $15, and James L. Hersher, Hamilton, bond $15.

The patrol also picked up Wilford R. Beaman, Cincinnati, for improper use of a dealer's license.

LIME REDUCED

CHILLICOTHE—The lime deposit in the city water has been reduced to almost none by changes made in the softening plant.

DROP FOUR EMPLOYEES

LANCASTER — Two policemen and two firemen have been dropped from the two departments due to lack of funds.

Now you Know!

The answers to everyday insurance problems *
By Leonard Korn and Dana Hyer

QUESTION: Not long ago we had a fire in our home and we moved most of our furniture to the home of a neighbor. It's just an idea but I wondered what would happen if the neighbor's house had also burned. Would we have been paid for our furniture?

ANSWER: Yes, almost all fire insurance policies protect the owner of furniture against loss for a period of five days after the furniture has been moved to a new location. After that, it would be necessary to see your insurance agent about keeping the policy in force.

*If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Gain Alternateships To N. S. Academies

Congressman Clarence J. Brown has announced that James McLean Fox, 417 Rawling Street, Washington C. H., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Fox, has won the first alternateship to the U. S. Naval Academy as a result of his standing in the competitive preliminary examination held in the seventh district in December.

Fox will be in line for admission to the academy in case the principal appointee fails to qualify. He is now in his first year at Purdue University at West Lafayette, Ind. At the same time Rep. Brown announced that Harold J. Knecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Knecht of near Jamestown and George Richard Blessing of 27 South Main Street, Jeffersonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Blessing, each won a second alternateship to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Wayne PTO To Hold Meeting Next Monday

Mrs. William McFaddin, Mrs. Cahrls Blizard and Mrs. Roy Jenks will be in charge of the program at the meeting of the Wayne Township PTO Monday at 8 P. M. in the school building.

Mrs. Roy Warner, Mrs. Ralph Garring, Mrs. Charles Beoddy, Mrs. George Van Dyke and Mrs. Waldo Purdom will be in charge of the refreshments.

The island of Kos in the Aegean Sea was the birthplace of Hippocrates, the father of medicine.

Mrs. Lucy Butcher Funeral Rites Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucy Butcher were held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Church of Christ in Christian Union, with Rev. Arthur George in charge.

Rev. George read the Scripture, offered prayer, delivered the sermon and paid a personal tribute to Mrs. Butcher.

Mrs. Leonard Korn and Mrs. Fred Ensen sang the two hymns, "Beyond the Sunset" and "My God and I," with Mrs. John Rhoads accompanying on the piano and playing the processional and recessional.

Miss Mazie Kessler played two hymns on the violin, entitled "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Going Down the Valley." Mrs. Korn accompanied on the piano.

Honorary pallbearers were: Charles Adkins, Walter Beatty,

John Ducey, George Steen, Kenneth Bonecutter and Willard Hamer. Active pallbearers were: Kenneth Hidy, Leonard Korn, Tommy Ducey, Fred Call, Walter Butcher and Wayne McConkey.

Burial was made in the Washington Cemetery beside her late husband under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home.

Ritualistic burial services were conducted by the Daughters of America at 7 P. M. Monday. Those taking part were as follows: Mrs. Mildred Mitman, counselor; Mrs. Zella Sanderson, vice counselor; Mrs. Frank Reveal, junior past counselor, and Mrs. Herman Sword, assistant junior past counselor.

Singers were Mrs. Albert Hyer, Mrs. Katherine Greaves, Mrs. Louella Orr and Mrs. Mabel Whitmer. They sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Abide With Me," and "In the Garden."
